Texans Always Answer the Call

We're building a better future for our communities—thanks to the discovery of generations worth of natural gas and oil resources in shale plays across the Lone Star state.

Natural gas found in these shale plays is bringing thousands of good, sustainable jobs and long-term economic investment to our state.

Leaders across the state share our commitment to safe and responsible development of this Texas resource.

A cleaner fuel source for transportation and power generation, natural gas is significantly reducing emissions—providing a cleaner and brighter future for our children and grandchildren.

Texas natural gas. It's powering our future.

WELCOME TO THE FIRST-EVER TEXAS TRIBUNE FESTIVAL!

All of us at the Tribune believe that engaged and informed Texans make for a better Texas — and we can think of no more effective way to engage and inform than this two-day gathering, which brings together some of the brightest minds and most innovative thinkers from near and far.

We chose our speakers and panelists because they work hard each day, in a wide range of professional disciplines and from every side of the spectrum, to enrich their communities. We chose our four tracks of content — education, energy, health care and immigration — because these subject areas, more than any others, touch the lives of everyone in this great state of ours.

Please take advantage of the opportunity to both listen and talk — to thoughtfully consider the diverse points of view on display and to share your own perspective. You have a big part to play in the very important conversation about to take place.

Thanks so much for being here. And thanks for supporting the Tribune.

Sincerely,

Evan Smith

EXPLORING WHAT’S POSSIBLE

Natural gas can keep the economy moving.

Apache uses clean-burning CNG to fuel our fleet, and we support policies that encourage using more natural gas in transportation.

Natural gas resources can be developed without endangering the environment.

Apache uses modern drilling and well-completion techniques to protect drinking water supplies. To improve the transparency of our operations, we report the composition of our hydraulic fracturing fluids at fracfocus.org.

Support the water that funds academic scholarships to UT

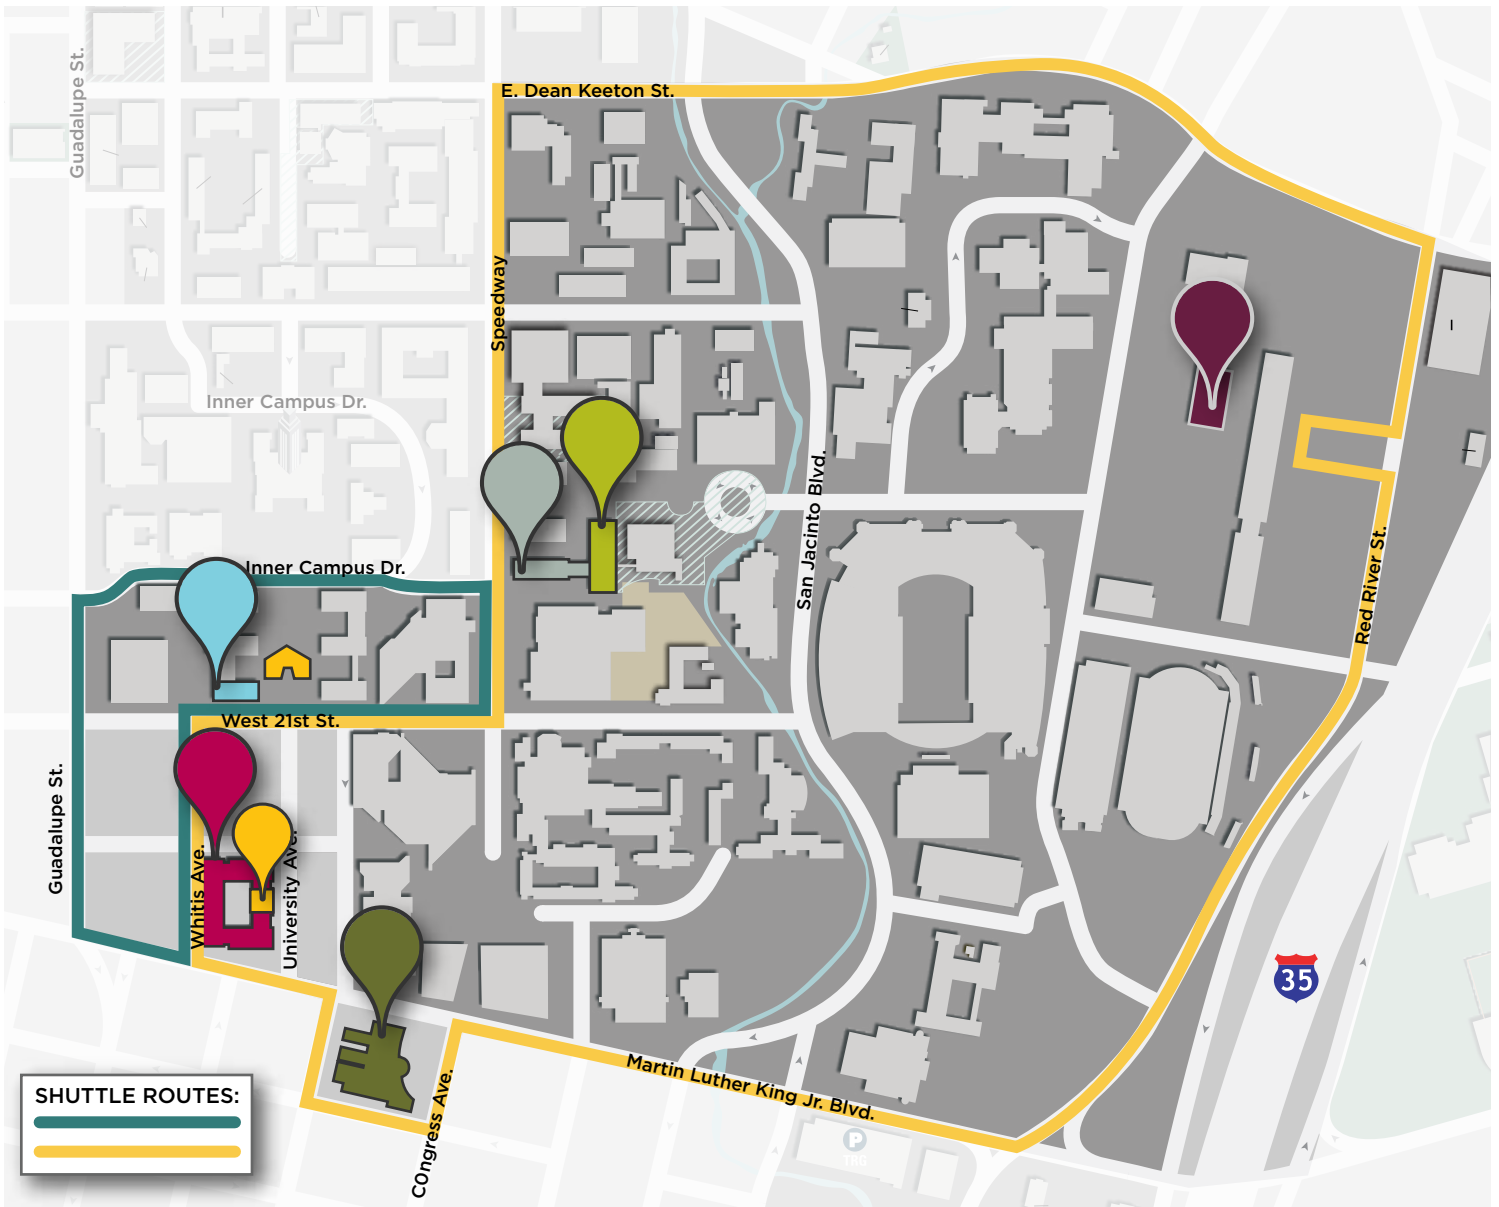

H₂Orange Purified Texas Water funds academic scholarships to The University of Texas at Austin.

The Texas Tribune Festival brings together some of the State's most prominent thinkers to discuss race & immigration, energy & environment, public & higher education, and health & human services.

Imagine the possibilities when a University and a State share the same purpose.

Bright minds, bright future.
