Dear Alto:

Thank you for your letter of ______ It was indeed a pleasure to learn of your family's strong Longhorn tradition—that your father was responsible for "importing" Bevo II really beefs up your story!

Your membership in the Chancellor's Council, together with your continued involvement with U. T. Austin's Longhorn Foundation and support for the Longhorn football team, will contribute enormously to what we are able to achieve for The University of Texas System and its outstanding institutions. I look forward to the opportunity to visit at the

I was pleased, too, to learn of UT EID UT App. Id No. and of her spirit and enthusiasm for U. T. Austin. A copy of your correspondence will be forwarded to appropriate University officials on campus for further consideration and review.

With great respect,

Francisco

CURTIS L. SOILEAU ALTO V. WATSON, III. CATHERINE ADAMS MATTHEWS Dr. Francisco G. Cigarroa, Chancellor at this in a The University of Texas System 601 Colorado Street, 4th Floor Austin, Texas 78701-4201 Chancellor's Council Re: UT EID No. UT Applicant, and UT Admissions Application Number: Dear Chancellor Cigarroa: I appreciate very much your personal invitation to join the Chancellor's Council of the University of Texas. See Attachment A. My history with the University of Texas goes back seventy (70) years when my father, also Alto Watson, imported Bevo II across the Mexican border during hoof and mouth disease when it was impossible to find a longhorn in the central Texas area. He was also the drum major in the Longhorn marching band and instilled in me a great sense of pride for the University of Texas. I am a 1984 graduate of the University of Texas with a degree in history and have been a long term member of the Longhorn Foundation and have enjoyed immensely sitting in the North End Club for football games since its construction. I very much look, and am greatly honored that I would be chosen forward to meeting you on for this type of advisory role with the University. On a different matter, I graduated second in my high school class, yet my application was late to the University of Texas because I had been severely injured. The admissions office initially declined my application but after repeated phone calls and visits to Austin to instill in them my pride for the University of Texas, I was admitted in August of 1978 for the 1978 Fall semester. I got a break and I think it paid off for the University in the long term. I am asking now for a break for another qualified student. (UT EID My longtime

) has the same driving spirit about the University of Texas that I J had as a young high school graduate. It is the only school has ever wanted to attend and in preparation for applying to the University of Texas, has worked extremely hard and diligently throughout her high school career to meet the academic and extra-curricular requirements and standards the University looks for in a potential applicant. For example, chose to take advanced courses of the distinguished curriculum that she was not required to take to graduate but chose to in order that her high school transcript would meet with University of Texas course requirements. will graduate Cum Laude as an honor graduate in June and she plans to major in the Liberal Arts Department as a government major for pre-law study.

The process to enter the University of Texas has become so difficult that GPA's are the only thing really looked at anymore without regard to what type of contribution a potential student could make to the university. I am attaching Resume' and her student number is referenced above in hopeful anticipation that her application could be re-examined for admittance to the main campus for the Fall 2010 semester. See Attachment B. has already been offered the CAP (Coordinated Admissions Program) by the Admissions Board and is planning to attend the University of Texas at Arlington. Also, in conjunction with her application to the University, she has applied to try out for the Orange Co-Ed Texas Cheer Squad and White Squad. See Attachment C. As you can see, also has a very impressive cheer Resume' to offer any university. What greater spirit could one show for the University of Texas than a desire to cheer for the Texas Longhorns.

is the Student Body President of her high school government and Varsity Cheer Captain this year. Outside her many offices and positions held during her 4-year high school career, has competed on all-star competitive cheerleading teams and in individual cheer competitions since age 8, winning dozens of national awards. It is really disheartening to me that such a bright, vibrant and highly motivated young lady as was not offered admission by the Admissions Committee. She is the type of student that can and will make a difference in so many areas of the University with her personal attributes.

If donations to the University mean anything, it means to be able to advance the education of young students and to further the cause of the University, especially in times when state legislators believe that the University of Texas is somehow a self-sustaining profit center. As a member of the Chancellor's Council with a seventy (70) year history at the University of Texas, I would ask if there is anything that can be done to help this incredible young lady begin the Fall semester of at the University of Texas at Austin, please let me know. If there is anything that you could think of that could facilitate her admission, or if you could help facilitate her admission, I would appreciate it greatly. The University of Texas cheerleader tryouts are April 9th and 23rd so anything that could be done between now and then would be wonderful, however admission at any time for the Fall semester would meet with great adoration.

Thank you for your consideration and again, I look forward to meeting with you on

Mr. Alto V. Watson III 4730 Monticello Street Beaumont, Texas 77706-7712

Dear Alto:

Thank you for your dedication to, and support of, The University of Texas at Austin. Your commitment to excellence has made a lasting impact on this institution, and we are deeply grateful. Accordingly, in recognition of your enormous generosity to U. T. Austin, I am pleased to welcome you into the Chancellor's Council of The University of Texas System.

Founded in 1965 by the U. T. Board of Regents and Development Board leaders, the Chancellor's Council is composed of individuals who have offered key philanthropic support to one or more U. T. institutions, and who share a commitment to public higher education. With a membership of over 11,000, the Chancellor's Council provides critical expertise and assistance to our missions of educating students, creating new technologies that advance our society, finding new breakthroughs in medical treatments, and improving health care. We make every effort to ensure that Texas is an essential player in the global marketplace. Your participation is integral to this progress.

As a Chancellor's Council member, you will be invited to meet with this collegial group annually and to engage in dialogue with me regarding special initiatives and issues of importance to higher education in Texas. The enclosed brochure contains further details about the purpose and activities of the Council, including information about membership benefits and special programs created by philanthropic contributions. And, in the coming weeks, you will receive an invitation to our 43rd Annual Chancellor's Council Meeting and Symposium, scheduled for April 30 in Austin. It is my hope that by attending this meeting you will see firsthand the extraordinary value that this important group brings to the U. T. System and the high esteem in which you are held.

In these challenging times, it is imperative that we have a clear vision of the education our future global leaders will require, and that we be prepared to provide it. It is also crucial that we utilize our resources wisely. We must establish signature programs at each university while also creating partnerships between campuses to leverage those centers of excellence Systemwide. To be a first-rate university system, we need to take advantage of the major opportunities of our day — in medicine, energy, economics, and technology — by attracting and retaining the best faculty in the world. We must also work with our elected officials to identify the best methods to finance our universities and to develop sustainable models for growth that will lead to enhanced savings and revenue. Most of all, we are called to protect our cherished institutions and continue to strive for improvement in every area.

I know this is a vision that you share. Working together, we can make that vision a reality.

With great respect,

Francisco G. Cigarron M.D.

University of Texas Cheer Tryouts - Orange and White Squads RE:

Applicant:

UT EID:

UT Admissions Application Number:

Dear Mr. Diela:

It is with great excitement and enthusiasm, I enclose my University of Texas Spirit Program Tryout Packet consisting of the following documents for the Orange and White cheer squads. My enclosures are as follows:

- Recruit Information Sheet; 1.
- Pre-Participation Medical Screening Forms for New Cheerleader; 2.
- $20 processing fee; 3.
- Color head-to-toe photo and color headshot; 4.
- Letters of recommendation from current high school cheer advisor, 5. Briane Dean, previous high school cheer advisor, Michele Long because Ms. Long sponsored the school cheerleading for 5 of 6 years of my cheering, and my all-star cheer team and tumbling coach and gym owner, Price Kyler;
- Letter of recommendation from my high school counselor and University of 6. Texas Alumni, Ms. Cheri Woodsmall;
- School transcript and an unofficial copy of my SAT score; 7.
- 8.
- Copy of front and back of my private health insurance verification card; 9. and
- Video for Orange Squad Invitation. 10.

As set out in my Resume', I have cheered since age 8 and am ready to continue cheering at the collegiate level. I want nothing more than to be a distinguished member of the Texas Longhorns Spirit Program. I hope you will consider me a candidate for the Orange Co-Ed squad in addition to my application to try out for the White All-Girl squad.

Thank you very much for your time and consideration of my materials and I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

She has always shown an interest in supporting and motivating others while possessing great leadership skills during her time as a cheerleader. As a cheer coach, I have worked with many young ladies in helping them promote school spirit, but is in a league of her own. She is the "it" girl, that everyone notices. "Talented" is an understatement. As a cheerleader for and has even taken was selected as a UCA All-Star (______), and a NCA All-American (, United Cheer cheerleading to a new level becoming ACP National Champion Individual (National Champion Individual (and has been a member of several nationally ranked cheer squads. Not only has she been an outstanding head cheerleader to our spirit program, she is also a well-rounded student. Her many talents have been utilized in Student Council (representative, parliamentarian, vice-president, president); Spanish club (representative); yearbook staff; track; and UIL poetry. While staying active in all of these activities, she has also maintained her status High School's Honor Roll and National Honor Society. Dear Mr. Dieta.

for admission to the University of Texas. As her I am very pleased to recommend journalism and English IV teacher as well as her high school cheerleading coach. I have watched this young woman develop both academically and personally into a mature individual ready in every way for her college years. is bright, energetic, compassionate and genuinely well-rounded. Her grades have been consistently above average in all of her courses, and she has actively participated in a diverse assortment of extracurricular activities ranging from student government and cheerleading to the school yearbook and choir. As her high school cheerleading coach, I rely on ability to lead her squad and her high school peers to support our team. She never settles for less than perfection from herself or her squad-mates. She is a natural leader. has also spent considerable time outside the school involved in competition cheerleading. This has included coaching a championship cheer squad. She has filled her school days in leadership positions since ninth grade. From her first position as a student council representative to her position as Student Body President this year, always made it a priority to surpass anyone's expectations for her. has made clear to us all that Unlike many students who are not sure which field to pursue, her goal is to major in Criminal Justice. This decision was almost as easy for her as choosing the University of Texas. has always dreamed of cheering at UT, and she constantly oozes Longhorn Pride. is an exceptional It is clear to me as I hope it is to you that this young woman, candidate, one who would contribute greatly to the Longhorn traditions. I wholeheartedly recommend her and wish her the very best in all future endeavors. Sincerely,

Dear Francisco,

I have missed seeing and visiting with you here in San Antonio. I understand that you are doing a fantastic job and certainly congratulations are in order.

I have a that is very interested in attending The University of Texas at Austin and I am enclosing her information. Her name is understand that her UT identification number is and that she has applied to the College of Liberal Arts under Psychology. I am also enclosing a copy of her transcript and a list of accomplishments. I do not know if anything else can be done to foster her admission. She has been admitted to Texas A&M University and I hate the thought of a good potential Longhorn becoming an Aggic.

At any rate, let me know who I might contact and what you might suggest. I appreciate your help.

Sincerely,

Scott Petty, Jr.

Dear Francisco:

I trust you and your family are well and that you are enjoying the challenges that go with leading the University of Texas System. The recession is certainly going to strain resources but I am sure you will find a way to deal with the hurdles you face during the next State Budget Biennium.

I am writing to let you know will graduate from in May and has applied for admission to the University of Texas at Austin. This past summer attended a six week program for high school students at the Cornell University School of Architecture where he for his course work. Although is very interested in architecture, he recognizes the small size of that School makes admissions there extremely difficult and has thus elected to make the School of Fine Arts his first choice with Architecture second. I believe all of application information has been received by the Admissions Office but if any additional information is required, we will be pleased to furnish it.

Claire joins me in extending our best wishes to you, Graciela and your daughters for the Holidays and New Year ahead.

Dear Francisco:

Please forgive me for making a personal request like this. I am seeking some help in "keeping to UT-Austin. It appears on track" the appeal for admission by that the admission process is not entirely quantitative so I am motivated to write this very difficult letter. My hope is that his application won't "fall through the cracks" in the flood of paper the Admissions Office receives.

is a quiet, serious young man with a high degree of integrity, good grades and leadership qualities (captain of the varsity lacrosse team), and likes math and science courses.

application to UT-Austin for the Jackson School of Geosciences, received a CAP Designation which could divert him to some other university. He has been offered admission to at least two other top-flight universities in Texas, but I want him to continue to pursue admission to UT-Austin in any capacity. If the numbers work against him, I may have to get tickets on both sides of the football stadium!! Our family has always considered UT-Austin the "go-to" university in Texas, and many relatives have graduated from there. I received my MA in geology from UT-Austin in 1953. As you may know, our relationship with higher education in Texas and the UT-System began in the 1880's and is continuing today through UTMB in Galveston. This is one of the reasons I would like to see continue the tradition if he can make the grade.

In your position as Chancellor it may not be appropriate to even consider my request. If so, please destroy this letter. In either case, I wish you well in your critical dealings with the Jana-View to trispord — Very sincerely,

Dr. Francisco G. Cigarroa,

I am in Family Practice here in San Antonio for the past 50 years and have followed your career with great interest.

I almost feel like I know you personally having worked for many years with Dr. Jim Reitman, an Anesthesiologist who worked with your father in Laredo and had many intresting stories about surgery and anestesia.

I am writing you with a request for your help in getting in gaining entrance to the University of Texas Law School.

His record is good and his resume is enclosed. I will be in debt to you any assistance.

High School in who was turned down for admission at UT. She has an incredible grade point average and all kinds of activities and her father is a very successful Architect and she would like to become one.

She was advised to apply for education and then transfer to Architecture. Since I have a son who is an Architect (From UC-Berkeley) I know how confusing applications can be for young people in this field and wondered if you could send the attached resumes and materials to someone for a reexamination? It may not be possible under your system but I thought I might try for her. She is a jewel and I think in the long run she will bring honor to your university system.

Have a great Legislative session.

To Whom It May Concern:

I was 8 years old when I got "hooked". UT had a reputation of being the best. It was 1963 and the University of Texas had just won their first National Championship in football. From that moment, it was my dream to attend and be a proud graduate of the University of Texas. Following in my 2 sisters and 2 brothers' footsteps, my dream became a reality when I received my Bachelor of Architecture in

If the University of Texas is to continue to be the best University in Texas and continue to make Texas the best state in the country, then it should make every effort to keep the best Texas students in the state. I believe is one of those students, regardless of the top 10% rule.

Because was told that the UT Architecture School was next to impossible to get accepted to and the fact that she was in her class, marked Education on her application with the hopes of getting accepted, then transferring to the Architecture School. I believe this may have hurt her chance of getting into UT.

is "hooked" and it has been her dream to attend and be a proud graduate of the University of Texas since she was a toddler. Her father, aunts, uncles, and cousins attended UT. It is in her blood and she has the passion to be a Longhorn and an architect, just like her father. Attending High School, consistently ranked as one of the best public high schools in the country by Newsweek, has displayed great academic achievements through her GPA, her class ranking of top and her numerous honors and awards. Her resume would make any student proud.

In addition to her tremendous academic qualities, has displayed great enthusiasm and sensitivity for helping others through her tireless efforts of volunteer work for the League, Council, And Habitat for Humanity. She has especially shown a keen interest for young disadvantaged children and the elderly. During her spare time, she was also able to build toward her dream of becoming an architect by working as an architectural intern this past summer.

is a highly motivated, well rounded, and the hardest working student I know. I believe that she will make the University of Texas proud to have her as a student and ultimately, proud to call her an alumni. I am attaching her resume, 2 college essays and her Architecture essay. She did not send her Architecture essay as she marked Education on her application. Thank you for your consideration.

Essay Topic # 1: Evaluate a significant experience, achievement, risk you have taken, or ethical dilemma you have faced and its impact on you.

With trembling fingers, I began to zip up my black cotton leotard, pull on my fuzzy leg warmers, and pin back the last few strands of hair from my face. Though I had stretched over four times, my muscles felt as though they were going to break. I had just finished pinning a piece of cardstock to my leotard that read "72" when I heard a loud voice, "Numbers seventy, seventy-one, seventy-two, and seventy-three, you are on deck."

On the walk to the gym from the mezzanine, I began to reminisce over my memories of the trials and dreams of becoming in hopes to suppress the knots in my stomach. The December tryouts to become a were rigorous and intense and making the team was the easy part. The actual team itself wakes up at 6:00 AM every morning for practice.

Though the practices and training were difficult, the performances on and off the field paid off. I can remember the very first time I ever saw them, in their blue fringed uniforms performing on the football field in the fall of my first grade year. Since that game, I dreamt of one day being a long taking dance classes at a young age in preparation to one day make the team, though I was unaware at the time of the rigor and intensity of the work ethic.

"Ladies, your music is on." I quickly snapped back into reality, only to realize I was about to perform. Nerves came rushing as my stomach twisted back into knots. I noticed four judges sitting on the stage. I remembered each of them from the previous year: the fire redheaded woman with pale skin and a frown on her face; the jovial man with an excited smile; the frail blonde with no expression; and the plump brunette with a smirk. I would never forget these faces, always looking at me, then looking down to write critiques. There were so many memories rushing through my mind at the moment. I had to stop thinking and just perform. After each step,

I was reminded of how one year ago, after not making the team, I decided immediately I wanted to try out again. I knew it wasn't going to be easy. I took intense classes at the local dance studios, putting in at least two hours a day in the studio and sometimes more than fifteen hours a week. I remembered the times that I wanted to quit more than anything and just give up, but I wanted to prove to the judges, myself and everyone that I could work hard and achieve my goals. The blaring music came to a halt and I was finished. I glided out with pointed toes, my chin up and a smile from ear to ear.

After all the girls had tried out, there was a waiting period, during which I spent most of the time on the edge of my seat. Finally, we all piled into the gym and were told to sit in front of a blue envelope with our tryout number on it. I immediately saw my royal blue envelope with a bolded "72" on the front. It felt like déjà vu as I stood in front of my envelope and all the returning members ran through the gym screaming and banging on the floors. I pictured myself while other girls opening the envelope from the previous year only to find a Though my stomach churned, I could not help but feel a around me received little bit of relief from the whole situation. I had completed what I came to do. I had proved to everyone I could work hard for something I wanted and stick to it and most importantly, I proved to myself I could do it. As soon as we were released to open our envelopes, I saw a corner of . But before I could pull it out any further, what was not a , but a my mom spoke the words I had been waiting to hear for so long, "You're a Topic B. Choose an issue of importance to you—the issue could be personal, school related, local, political, or international in scope—and write an essay in which you explain the significance of that issue to yourself, your family, you community, or your generation.

I felt like a spec of pepper in a sea of salt, a spoon in the knife drawer, an overtly bright color in a box of subtle crayons. It was the first day of my kindergarten experience at Elementary School and I already felt out of place. My plain, black blunt-cut bob and my dark did not go unnoticed by the multitude of blue-eyed blondes in my class. I was new to the prestigious community of and thus, unaccustomed to the cookie-cutter children it produced. I was so used to all different kinds of colored kids with different ethnicities. I found myself standing in the corner awkwardly while listening to the murmured comments of the other kids. My eyes wandered around the room-noticing that even the children on the posters did not look like me. Though at the time I did not know it, I was in culture shock. Yes. I was a misfit.

Mrs. the teacher, soon began to call roll as all the students took their assigned seats. I chose a spot in the very back. "...," with a corresponding 'present,' rung in my ears. ", and, oh...

And there it was, my unusual name to match my unusual hair and non-generic The students looked around, some even snickered or gasped, but most just looked confused. Heat rushed to my face, as if I needed more attention drawn to me.

"Present," I responded, before immediately looking down. For most of the lesson, students kept turning their heads back conspicuously just to stare. Though their initial reaction eventually faded throughout the week as they got bored, I never stopped noticing my differences. Every time roll was called, I'd flinch, hoping Mrs. would stop with and leave off the obvious burden, "I'd bow my head and try not to pay attention, thinking, maybe if I was so plain, and yet, so different. I fiddled with my

I brushed my hair at least a hundred strokes every night, praying that it would grow longer, in addition to asking my mom to put curlers in my hair to match the long locks of the other girls in my class. But nothing changed. This longing and hoping for conformity didn't stop with the years. As I grew older, I grew even more aware of my unusual features.

My differences followed me everywhere I went. I avoided saying my last name whenever I could. I eventually grew out my straight hair which, lucky for me, was now "in." But I still longed for the same things I did when I was in kindergarten. with lightly sprinkled freckles along the bridge of my nose, curly blonde ringlets that bounced when I laughed, the name changed to I still knew kids chuckled when they heard my name or saw me walk into a room.

Now, years later, looking through the yearbook, I notice almost every other girl has blonde hair and blue eyes, the things I had wished for so long. But looking at those girls from the removed space of years, I wonder, Why should I conform to what one society says I should look like or be? Who says that blonde hair or blue eyes is the only look? I have grown proud of my distinguishing features, even though it was a struggle at first. Though I have grown up with more insecurities than many kids face, it is these insecurities have made me stronger as a person and proud of my differences. I am not your "Type A" teen, and I am never going to be. And you know, I can finally say I'm very proud of that. Today, when I look in the mirror, I don't see phantoms of myself altered by colored lenses or cosmetic surgery. I see me, part wholly American, wholly myself. And now, I embrace these

Dear Francisco:

I am writing to you in regard to whom we call concerning his application for admission to the University of Texas at Austin for the school year beginning in August has not achieved the academic goals that he and his parents wished, but they know, and I know, that he has great talent, a strong desire and the potential to become a successful business and community leader. He reflects a strong interest in pursuing a business career, and he is clearly anxious to continue the University of Texas tradition of his father, and his uncle, who have long been active University of Texas supporters. I do not expect that you are in any way involved in the admissions process, but I thought you might not mind if I informed you that I think will prove to be a credit to the University of Texas, if he should be fortunate enough to be admitted.

Joan and I were extremely pleased for you, Graciela and all your family when we learned of your appointment as Chancellor. We wish you continuing success, and I look forward to seeing and visiting with you when our paths cross again, hopefully soon.

Re:

Application of

to Engineering School

Dear Dr. Cigarroa,

It has come to my attention that the grandson of one of my great friends and constituents, has applied to the Engineering Program at the University of Texas at Austin. has been a long-time, enthusiastic supporter of the University. I am certain his grandson, and would be an excellent addition to the engineering program.

The priority of Texas residents for places in the Engineering Program is a matter of great concern. We need to make certain that our scarce taxpayers dollars are first applied to providing education to our Texas citizens.

It is also of great concern if we do not have funding for sufficient places to educate prospective engineers. We must do all we can to allocate resources to the hard sciences and engineering.

If I can be of assistance on any of these matters, please let me know.

Sincerely,

Tryon Lewis

Dear Francisco:

Will you please help me on this very deserving candidate for admission? His is one of our most valued I really want to help this young man. He has worked hard and certainly deserves my help.

Permit me to submit this letter as introduction and support for applicant to The University of Texas at Austin, School of Architecture. I would like to mention a few points in an effort to gain your consideration.

A broadly-knowledgeable individual, always goes above and beyond what is expected of him. As a hard-working and highly-dedicated individual, he never shies away from taking on leadership roles or working within a team. I am confident in his ability to handle the rigors of academia while becoming an active participant in campus life. Given the support and opportunity to do so, he will bring credit to any school he attends and succeed in all his endeavors.

is aware of the time and effort required to attain his goals. With his many talents and abilities, he will, undoubtedly, become an asset to any school he attends. Therefore, I respectfully request that you give your highest consideration. Should you need any additional information, please call me.

Sincerely,

Dear Francisco,
First of all, let me express my thanks to you for the great job you're doing as Chancellor, your family would be proud. As you may recall, I enjoyed meeting them when we designed the hospital in Laredo. I have also really enjoyed serving on the Chancellor's Executive Committee.
The reason I am writing, there is an extraordinary young man, that is interested in a number of schools, one of which is University of Texas at Austin. I have known him since he was a child. I was wondering if you could forward my reference for him to the appropriate contact.
He is on the National Honor Society, a high school tuition scholarship at Honor Roll, won the top average in class in the took 2 nd and 3 rd Place in the high school science fair and was voted to the Homecoming Court by his class.
furthered served on Student Council as a class representative, parliamentarian and served on the Student Council Board. He is actively involved in his community and has served as a volunteer for Special Olympics, Hearts and Hammers, and House, a facility dedicated to Alzheimer's patients.
In addition to all of this, he has been active on the basketball team at the Varsity level and served as . He truly is a sportsman, but more importantly a leader.
I am in awe of this young man and his intelligence, but also his heart. Please let's try to get in University of Texas at Austin. He would be a great addition to our U.T. System. Thank you for your considerations.

Dear Cisco:

I trust this letter finds you well and hope that you, Graciela and the girls will have a very happy holiday season. Since you are the father and husband of outstanding young women, I thought I would share with you my heartfelt recommendation for an outstanding young woman who is interested in the University of Texas at Austin.

Is the daughter of one of my long-time, dearest friends and served as a long and as long and as long to long his term as long to long has quite clearly not fallen far from her mother's tree.

attached resume speaks to her excellent record through her high school years, not only academically, but in the creativity required for theatre, and most importantly, her passion for service. It is this last category that compels me to write this letter.

As much as any young person I have ever known, embodies the attributes of "a servant's heart." She is as empathetic, compassionate, and gracious as any young woman you will ever meet. And it is heartfelt. Her fascination for the University of Texas springs from her desire for service to others. She has a familial affection for the University of Texas, but mostly desires to have as broad and diverse an experience as possible in her college education, to propel her to and prepare her for her social work career. I can think of no finer service I can do for the University of Texas than to recommend for consideration for the freshman class.

Sincerely,

as the world is vastly changing around me I have found my purpose. After traveling across the world to visit family members, my eyes have absorbed many wonders. Observing people who had barely owned a single thing in life, basic necessities may never be met even during a week's time. Very colorful clothes in some places and in others severe poverty at hand. Children walking barely clothed and hardly clean, toddlers wondering down busy streets alone, and cold. It was then that I considered how our world really functions as a whole. The hole in my heart began to fill up with ideas of how important it was to me to help people in need. I felt strongly that even in our great land of opportunity, there are people in need. The different types and levels of need had become a part of my thinking to find a way to be part of a solution, a long term solution.

I decided to look into avenues and the road I landed on was Non-Profit Organization. With the help and support of my family and friends, I am now working on a project called and it will be set up to help the impoverished children of India and in the United States. The main goal will be to get clean food and water, clothes and books to children, starting in India
Now that you have discovered my heart, I will tell you the subjects I absolutely love to study! I thoroughly enjoy math and science, of course. I have accelerated in math for many years as well as in science. I used to that I would like to be a doctor and had helped get their life back to normal and I knew the field of medicine would be good for me. Over the years I have volunteered and helped refugees from get medical care with the volunteer group to include other children and many physicians.
l enjoy playing tennis, attending U.T. football games, swimming, pottery, bollywood dance performances with my troupe and spending time with family and friends. In the winter I love to curl up next to the fireplace and read a good book.
I love to challenge my abilities and push myself to do the best I possibly can. I am driven, motivated and dedicated to anything I set my heart on. I like to use my "free time" by helping others in my community and make a difference in their lives.
I have the strong desire to become part of the great University of Texas at Austin. I know that the quality of citizens produced through this academic empire are people who have made a difference in numerous categories and I would be privileged and honored to be given such an opportunity. In addition

Francisco G. Gigarroa, M.D. Chancellor University of Texas System Austin, Texas

Date:

Dear Respected Chancellor,

Please accept this letter of recommendation for who wishes to apply to University of Texas (Austin)

My name is Dr. Vivek Mahendru and I am a proud graduate of Harvard Medical School. I completed a fellowship in Pain Medicine in 1995 working under the distinguished Dr. Simon Gelman and then went on to launch a successful career in Central Texas. We now own and operate numerous clinics and our own surgery center. We continue to expand and grow and have been profiled for our good work in TV, print and radio numerous times.

reached out to me over the summer and voiced interest in pursuing-a-career-in-medicine. She-wanted-to-get-a-better-understanding-of the medical profession, the demands, the commitment of the profession and reinforce the decision for pursuing the pre-med/medical program. She had previously volunteered at health fairs and expressed an interest in getting a more real-life work experience by shadowing me. She spent several weeks at my medical facility. During this time she understood the basics of taking vital signs, understood how to communicate with patients and interact with the clinical department. On several occasions she would observe us diagnosing patients and recommending treatments.

She demonstrated a high level of enthusiasm and would ask several medical related questions in various fields of our specialization in Pain Medicine. It is very mature and demonstrated a high level of professionalism, passion to learn about the medical field and understands the overall operations. She is challenging herself academically and demonstrates a high level of intellectual ability. It is ready to explore both the research and practical aspects of the field of medicine.

In addition realized early on that embracing opportunities outside the classroom with learning and service go hand in hand. She is a non profit organization called This group has a service mission to help needy children both in India and in the United States.
Once again, I strongly recommend for the University of Texas in Austin. I am sure you will find her a committed learner, courteous, compassionate, with a desire to excel in the field of her choice.
Kind Regards,

Vivek Mahendru, M.D.

University. Came to Texas at the turn of the 20 th century to begin a new life as vegetable farmers. My grandfather, Henry Van De Walle, earned many distinctions: he was a pillar of the San Antonio community, a leader in agriculture, a member of the inaugural Edwards Underground Aquifer Commission, an active leader in his church, and was granted an honorary doctorate degree from Incarnate Word University despite having only a sixth grade education. He worked with researchers from Texas A&M University on several agricultural projects. At one point the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce named him the Man of the Year for the city of San Antonio. Was a pilot in the United States Air Force and later Delta Airlines. I may

Dear Admissions Committee:
As a close family friend, I have had the pleasure of getting to know past eight years. She has accompanied my family on out of town vacations, participated with my daughter on club cheerleading teams and been my daughter's guest for many sleepovers. Despite and that they attended rival high the fact that my daughter is a year older/grade above and that they attended rival high schools, and my daughter formed an unbreakable bond of friendship. As a result, schools, and my daughter formed an unbreakable bond of friendship. As a result, personal, spiritual, academic and throughout the years I have witnessed first hand, personal, spiritual, academic and extra-curricular growth. I am blessed to have been afforded the opportunity to celebrate achievements as well as, offer support and encouragement to her when things didn't always work out as planned. Regardless of the task, I have consistently been impressed with always work out as planned. Regardless of the task, I have consistently been impressed with opportunities and activities that would enrich her life as well as, the lives of those around her.
is a mature and responsible young lady that is very dedicated to achieving the goals that she sets for herself. Her hard work and motivation have given her the ability to be successful in a wide range of areas. The academic courses that has taken throughout high school wide range of areas. The academic courses that has taken throughout high school success of her efforts are reflected in her exemplary grade point average of academic commitments along with her responsibilities as academic commitments along with her responsibilities as academic require her to spend numerous hours per week studying and practicing. With an already full is not only concerned with achieving the goals that she calendar, it's worth noting that is not only concerned with achieving the goals that she has set for herself, but she also has great compassion for the well being of others as demonstrated by her involvement in Meals on Wheels, the Humane Society, Any Baby Can and Habitat for Humanity community service projects.
To see someone as young as take pride in her surroundings is humbling. Her dedication and commitment to excellence are admirable qualities that are not found in many young ladies today. In a fast paced world filled with destructive distractions, has always been able to recognize the importance of a strong work ethic while maintaining intellectual integrity. She stands above the rest by her ability to take initiative and shows determination in everything she is involved in. participates in many activities such as the National Honor Society, involved in. Fellowship of Christian Athlete's and first to name a few), while simultaneously pouring her heart and soul into the High School Program. Her passion, drive and dedication for this sport are impeccable.
During challenging times (where most young ladies would have given up), has forged ahead and broken down obstacles that stood in her path. She possesses a remarkable inner will, along with a "never give up" attitude and always has a smile for everyone she encounters.

I am so proud to have watched her progress as a leader, student, and young adult and I feel blessed to have her in my life.

has proven, beyond a doubt that she can organize her time and efforts to meet the stringent demands of her academic schedule while still allowing herself the opportunity to engage in other activities as well. It is my strong belief that maturity, motivation and self-discipline to continue her academic success as a student at your university, while serving as a positive role model to others along the way.

In closing, thank you for the opportunity to provide your committee with greater insight relative to the character of a remarkable young woman. If you require further information, please do not hesitate to contact me.

has always been very special to our failing, upon every meeting she has greeted us with a joyful smile and sparkling eyes that reveal her genuiness. She has that rare combination of confidence and humility that is very refreshing in a person her age.

Another quality that I admire very much in is that she is also a very respectful young lady, loyal to her family and to her faith. She has grown up in a loving home where she has received support for every endeavor and because of that has become a well-balanced person. She is able to manage her curricular and extracurricular activities very responsibily.

I have witnessed and her family experience some sad losses in their family and throughout, exhibited dignity and wisdom beyond her years. She is a remarkable young lady and it is my deep honor to be a part of her life.
