State of Texas vs. Ronald Reynolds
Cause No. 14-10-11302-CR

Protective Order
(Gag Order)

The Court orders that all parties to this offense including attorneys for the State and attorneys for Defendant be prohibited from discussing this case prior to and during this cause of action. The case is set for trial in January 2015. The prior trial resulted in a motion for mistrial submitted by the defense related to outside influence.

It is hereby ordered that no one who is a party or attorney in this lawsuit is allowed to comment on the evidence, answer any questions or state any alleged facts that either side wishes to elicit at trial. This order applies to parties, witnesses, lawyers, and law enforcement officials and it specifically prohibits these individuals from speaking to the press or any other person concerning this case.

The Court is concerned about the right to a fair trial, the fair administration of justice, and the sanctity of jury deliberations and does not want to taint any prospective jurors for the next venire.
