The Texas Weekly Index is the difference between the average vote percentages for statewide Republican and Democratic candidates in contested races over the last two cycles, by district. A red number indicates a Republican environment; a blue number indicates a Democratic one.

Note: A square around a number means that member is paired in the same district with another incumbent in that plan.

The current map has no open seats except where Rep. Fred Brown, who retired, is being replaced in a special election in HD-14. The Legislature's map has seven open seats. The Court map has a dozen open seats.
